- 8 (1) Between two or more [corporations or other]
- 9 business entities seeking to preserve workforce stability
- 10 (which shall be deemed to be among the protectable interests
- of each [corporation or] such business entity) during, and
- 12 for a reasonable period following, negotiations between such
- 13 [corporations or] business entities for the acquisition of
- 14 all or a part of one or more of such [corporations or]
- 15 business entities;
- 16 (2) Between two or more [corporations or] business

- 50 to be reasonable if its postemployment or postbusiness
- 51 duration is no more than [one year] two years.
- 3. A reasonable covenant in writing promising not to

- 60 shall be enforceable, and not a restraint of trade pursuant
- 61 to subsection 1 of section 416.031, if the covenant is
- 62 limited to customers with whom the employee dealt during the
- 63 employee's employment or other business relationship with
- 64 the business entity, and if:
- (1) The covenant is between a business entity and one
- or more current or former employees of the business entity

73
     limited liability company, or an equity interest, ownership, 74
75
     profit participation, or other interest of any type in any business entity;
76
     so long as the covenant does not continue for more than two 77
     years following the end of the employee's employment or 78
79
     business relationship with the business entity.
     Notwithstanding the foregoing, this subdivision shall not 80
81
     apply to covenants with current or former distributors,

92
          (3) The covenant is between a business entity and the disposition of such items.

101

102	(a) A breach or threatened breach of a covenant
103	described in this subdivision shall create a conclusive
104	presumption of irreparable harm in the absence of an
105	issuance of injunctive relief in connection with the
106	enforcement of the covenant, without the necessity of
107	establishing by prima facie evidence any actual or
108	threatened damages or harm. Nothing in this paragraph shall
109	be construed to change any other applicable evidentiary
110	standard or other standards necessary for obtaining
111	temporary, preliminary, or permanent injunctive relief
112	relating to the enforcement of covenants.
113	(b) A provision in writing by which an employee
114	promises to provide prior notice to a business entity of the
115	employee's intent to terminate, sell, or otherwise dispose
116	of all or any part of any of the items covered by this
117	subdivision shall be conclusively presumed to be
118	enforceable, and not a restraint of trade pursuant to
119	subsection 1 of section 416.031, if the specified notice
120	period is no longer than thirty days in duration and the
121	business entity agrees in writing to pay the employee at the
122	employee's regular rate of pay and to provide the employee
123	with the employee's regular benefits during the applicable
124	notice period even if the business entity does not require
125	the employee to provide services during the notice period.
126	4. Whether a covenant covered by subsection 3 of this
127	section is reasonable shall be determined based upon the
128	facts and circumstances pertaining to the covenant, but a
129	covenant covered by subdivision (1) to (3) of subsection 3
130	of this section shall be conclusively presumed to be
131	reasonable if its postemployment, posttermination,
132	postbusiness relationship, postsale, or postdisposition
133	duration is consistent with the applicable duration set

- forth in subdivision (1) to (3) of subsection 3 of this section.
- 5. No express reference to geographic area shall be required for a covenant described in this section to be enforceable.
- 139 6. If a covenant is overbroad, overlong, or otherwise
  140 not reasonably necessary to protect the legitimate business
  141 interests of the person seeking enforcement of the covenant, 142 a court shall modify the covenant, enforce the covenant as 143 modified, and grant only the relief reasonably necessary to 144 protect such interests.
- 7. Nothing in subdivision (3) or (4) of subsection 1

  146 or subdivisions (1) to (3) of subsection 3 of this section

  147 is intended to create, or to affect the validity or

  148 enforceability of, [employer-employee] covenants not to

  149 compete, other types of covenants, or nondisclosure or

  150 confidentiality agreements, except as expressly provided in 151 this section.

- [4.] 8. Nothing in this section shall preclude a covenant described in subsection 1 of this section from being enforceable in circumstances other than those described in subdivisions (1) to (4) of subsection 1 of this section, or a covenant described in subsection 3 of this section from being enforceable in circumstances other than those described in subdivisions (1) to (3) of subsection 3 of this section, where such covenant is reasonably necessary to protect a party's legally permissible business interests.
  - [5.] 9. Except as otherwise expressly provided in this section, nothing is this section shall be construed to limit an employee's ability to seek or accept employment with another employer immediately upon, or at any time subsequent to, termination of employment, whether said termination was voluntary or nonvoluntary.

167 [6.] 10. This section shall have retrospective as well
168 as prospective effect.
