FISCAL ANALYSIS

ASSUMPTION

Officials from the Department of Insurance (INS) state that although the bill defines a taxpayer as including insurance companies (chapter 148), the bill only allows for redemption against chapter 143 income which does not include insurance companies. Therefore, INS assumes no fiscal impact from the proposal.

Officials from the Office of Administration - Budget and Planning assume the proposal will result in an unknown reduction in General and Total State Revenues.

Officials from the Department of Social Services (DOS) assumes that the proposed legislation will have little or no impact on their Division of Budget and Finance or the Children's Division. Any impact will be absorbed through existing staff and appropriations.

In response to a similar proposal from 2005, DOS stated approximately $67,000,000 of General Revenue and Federal funds were paid to residential treatment centers in FY 04.

Oversight has, therefore, ranged the fiscal impact of the tax credit from $0 (no taxpayer utilizing the program) to $26,800,000 ($67,000,000 x 40%) for the Residential Treatment Agency Tax Credit.

Officials from the Department of Revenue (DOR) state this legislation will require modifications to their individual and corporate income tax systems. DOR's Division of Taxation estimates these modifications will require (MINITS/1,384 hours) a programming cost of $46,170. COINS will also need to be modified (692 hours) for a programming cost of 23,085. DOR assumes these costs will be covered with current IT staff. In the event multiple new credits are passed, this cost could exceed current appropriation levels and result in additional funds being requested.

The number of taxpayers who will contribute and become eligible for this credit is unknown at this time. Personal Tax believes the number of taxpayers will be below 6,000; therefore, the need for FTE is not being requested at this time. However, if the credits claimed reached above 6,000, one Tax Processing Technician I would be required which would be requested through the regular budget process.

Officials from the Office of Secretary of State (SOS) assume there would be costs due to additional publishing duties related to the Department of Revenue's authority to promulgate rules, regulations, and forms. SOS estimates the division could require approximately 10 new pages of regulations in the Code of State Regulations at a cost of $27.00 per page, and 15 new pages in the Missouri Register at a cost of $23.00 per page. Costs due to this proposal are estimated to be $615, however, the actual fiscal impact would be dependent upon the actual rule-making authority and may be more or less. Financial impact in subsequent fiscal years would depend entirely on the number, length, and frequency of the rules filed, amended, rescinded, or withdrawn. SOS does not anticipate the need for additional staff as a result of this proposal, however, the enactment of more than one similar proposal may, in the aggregate, necessitate additional staff.

Oversight assumes the SOS could absorb the costs of printing and distributing regulations related to this proposal. If multiple bills pass which require the printing and distribution of regulations at substantial costs, the SOS could request funding through the appropriation process. Any decisions to raise fees to defray costs would likely be made in subsequent fiscal years.

Oversight assumes the General Revenue Fund would see an increase in funds (accompanying a valid tax credit application) as well as an offsetting decrease in funds (from the utilization of tax credits) in the same year. The timing difference between the purchasing of the tax credit by the agency and the utilization of the tax credit by the donor, could potentially result in a positive cash flow into the General Revenue Fund in one fiscal year and negative cash flow in the next fiscal year. However, Oversight will assume the purchase of the tax credits and the utilization of the tax credits will occur in the same fiscal year.

This proposal could result in an increase or decrease to Total State Revenues, depending upon the timing of the tax credit application versus the utilization of the tax credit.

FISCAL IMPACT - Small Business

Small businesses that are residential treatment agencies could be affected by this proposal.

DESCRIPTION

This proposal creates an income tax credit in an amount equal to fifty percent of a donation made, on or after January 1, 2007, to a qualifying residential treatment agency. The tax credit may not be applied against withholding taxes. An agency may apply for tax credits in an aggregate amount that does not exceed forty percent of the payments made by the department of social services to the agency in the preceding twelve months. The tax credit is fully transferable and may be carried back three years or forward up to four years.

This legislation is not federally mandated, would not duplicate any other program and would not require additional capital improvements or rental space.
