FISCAL ANALYSIS

ASSUMPTION

Officials from the Office of the Attorney General (AGO) assume that, if passed, this proposal will enable new cases of alleged discrimination based on sexual orientation to come before the Human Rights Commission. As a result, the AGO anticipates additional work in representing the Commission. At this time, it is unknown how many new claims will be filed by individuals alleging discrimination based on sexual orientation. AGO assumes that the number of claims in the first few years will be less than 10 and that the AGO can absorb the costs of representing the Commission in its review of these claims. However, if there is a significant increase in claims over time, the AGO may seek additional appropriations to adequately represent the Human Rights Commission in handling these claims.

Officials from the Office of State Courts Administrator assume the proposed legislation would have no fiscal impact on the courts.

Officials from the Department of Labor and Industrial Relations – Missouri Commission on Human Rights (MCHR) assume they cannot predict the number of cases the proposal would add to the MCHR’s caseload. The MCHR estimates, based on information received from four states which cover sexual orientation, the percentage of cases filed is 2.4%.

The MCHR received 1,893 complaints in FY 06. If this would increase in by 2.4% due to adding sexual orientation as a protected category, this would add 45 new complaints. The MCHR estimates .50 FTE (each at $39,324 per year) to absorb the additional workload. MCHR estimates the salary plus fringe benefits to be approximately $30,300 per year.

Oversight assumes the Department of Labor and Industrial Relations – Missouri Commission on Human Rights (MCHR) could absorb any increase in complaints within existing resources. However, if the number of cases increases significantly, MCHR could request additional funding through the budgetary process.

FISCAL IMPACT - Small Business

No direct fiscal impact to small businesses would be expected as a result of this proposal.

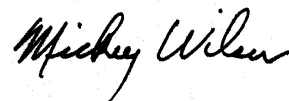

FISCAL DESCRIPTION

The proposed legislation appears to have no fiscal impact.

This legislation is not federally mandated, would not duplicate any other program and would not require additional capital improvements or rental space.
