2/5/2025	caley83@gmail.com	Nat resources	Over the summer we had some issues with Franklin County Water District 3 in Labadie. Upon researching and talking to others in the community, we werent the only ones. They are overcharging people, hanging up on us and being just generally shady. I even went so far as to go on the news about one issue. But many more of us are being taken advantage of. One household of two elderly people had a bill over $200 one month. Not to mention the water quality. Its absolutely undrinkable and has caused us to have skin issues. I have screenshots of peoples stories if needed. But they need to be investigated as to where our money is going. They hold "public" meetings but if anyone shows up to them, they sit there and dont talk. I never applied for Medicaid for my youngest 2 children because their father(my now husband) has always covered them on his insurance. I have called several times throughout the years to report this to them, but still to this day have to ask any provider to remove Medicaid from their account and replace with their medical insurance. They are still showing active in these medical systems as having Medicaid.	Stop adding people to Medicaid that don't need it and stop automatically renewing it without an application to prove it is needed.	Medicaid

2/5/2025	kevin2812@embargmail.com	Finance	Several years ago the DHSS, Office of Minority Health under the leadership of Randall Williams applied for a federal grant and was awarded several hundred thousand dollars to purchase a vehicle that was to be used at St. Louis for responding to meth overdose victims. DHSS's intention was to administer or provide NARCAN to local emergency responders for the victims of an overdose, then provide literature and counseling to the victims regarding services to assist with their drug addiction. The program caused conflicts with local emergency responders and was out of the realm of what DHSS employees should be doing at St. Louis. It is my understanding that the DHSS still has this vehicle. Its use has been very minimal for several years and yet thousands of dollars is spent to maintain it. I realize this is small potatoes when in the grand scheme of things but it's a shame that this ever got traction and the federal government got duped into providing the funds for this.	DHSS should see if another agency can utilize the vehicle or sell it. Cut the losses.	DHSS

When the assessor gets the value wrong, home owners can appeal. There is supposed to be an impartial Board of Equalization that reviews your appeal and makes a ruling. This board is run/staffed by former stl county assessor employees, particularly Bob Koch, who have made it their mission to reduce the amount of assessments that they correct. They simply refuse to correct them or make minimal adjustments. They collude with the assessors department to make the process unfruitful for folks who appeal. If you are unsatisfied with their biased decision, you can appeal to the Missouri State Tax Commission...but they are under staffed and are still working out appeals from as far back as 2021 due to the stl county board of equalization not doing their job and fixing the assessments like they did in the past! Folks are stuck with little or no relief for incorrect assessments.	Real estate property tax is necessary. The process should be/and used to be efficient to fix it when the assessor gets it wrong. The process worked, but now it is failing. At the same time MO Dept of Conservation uses funding to plant and protect native grasses in effort to prevent extinction of insects, small mammals, and birds that are essential to Missouri ecosystems. It's inefficient for both these departments to be working against eachother when they could be working together.	End mowing unnecessary areas along Missouri roadways and make a plan that prioritizes conservative efforts, including native grass and flora planting. Create a liaison between these departments so that they can both cut costs and create a more effective effort towards conservation of Missouri ecosystems.	MODOT
2/5/2025	benjamin.forsythe@protonmail.com	Education	Missouri's education system is crucial for the development of our young citizens, yet there seems to be an area of potential inefficiency in the utilization of funds allocated for school infrastructure. Specifically, there appears to be a duplication in the provision of resources such as textbooks, technology, and even facilities across various school districts. For instance, it has been observed that some districts have a surplus of textbooks and educational equipment, while others struggle with shortages. A more efficient distribution of these resources could prevent this imbalance and result in cost savings. Moreover, the lack of a centralized system for sharing educational technology can lead to unnecessary purchases and duplication of resources. The impact on taxpayers is significant. When funds are not used efficiently, it means that residents are not getting the maximum return on their tax dollars. Moreover, these inefficiencies can exacerbate educational inequalities among districts, affecting the quality of education that Missouri's children receive. To address this issue constructively, it would be beneficial for Missouri's Department of Education to consider creating a centralized system for shared resources. This would enable districts to access and share educational resources more efficiently, thereby reducing costs and	Solution: One practical solution to address the issue of inefficient distribution of educational resources in Missouri is the implementation of a Statewide Resource Management System (SRMS). The SRMS would be a centralized, online platform under the purview of the Missouri Department of Education, designed to optimize the allocation of educational resources across all school districts. The SRMS would work as follows: school districts would input their inventories of textbooks, technology, and other resources into the system. The SRMS would then match districts with surplus resources to those in need, facilitating an efficient exchange. To ensure the success of the SRMS, it is essential to establish clear guidelines for the system's use and maintenance. Moreover, regular audits should be performed to ensure the accuracy of the inventory data and the fair distribution of resources. The effectiveness of	Education

Despite her approval, she has consistently been denied healthcare. Apparently, there are recurring errors in the system when processing her information, leading to the closure of her case repeatedly. It is imperative that a change is made, as Missouri should be able to provide better services.	It's possible to revisit the era when individuals receiving government benefits had access to a dedicated caseworker with a physical desk and a phone number to facilitate communication with their assigned caseworker. Please take this into consideration. Thank you for your time.	FSD
2/6/2025	chris.wright@co.platte.mo.us	General Government	We need county office holder accountability, better oversight and modernization. We have antiquated laws when it comes to some of our county offices, some county office duties essentially overlap and it creates a redundant ineffective, inefficient system of government that wastes 10's of millions of dollars annually. For example, several states have gotten rid of the Records Office. Its a function of government and doesn't necessarily need to be an elected official. The county coroner is an antiquated office that anyone can be elected to. Some states have created an office of Sheriff/Coroner. If combined several offices to create a more efficient effective government we can save the taxpayers millions today and millions tomorrow. It will release the burden off our CERF county pension schemes over time. We just do things half ass backwards and it doesn't make any sense. For example in my office. If you add up all 115 county recorders salaries (114+St. Louis) if I averaged all salaries across the board its 5.57 million annually from our county budgets. Over 10 years that is 57 million dollars, but if you take away the need for our benefits packets, per diems, travel, expenses, etc. we could save over 100 million dollars in less than 10 years. That's just the recorders office, we can save even more by combining offices and abolishing offices that	Abolish the Office of the Recorder like many other states have and create the office of Assessor/Recorder. Literally these two offices go hand in hand. Get rid of the clerk/ recorder we have now as well. That's just a stupid office and a waste of space. Combine the offices of Sheriff/Coroner those offices go together as well. Allow the Sheriff to be the Sheriff and the undersheriff to be the coroner. Abolish the office of the surveyor. Several other states have and it works well. Create a more efficient effective county government that isn't hemorrhaging money on salaries and benefits on elected officials who are redundant and who's staff do most of the work anyway. Abolish the Office of the Collector. This is literally a function of government and we do not need to elect a person to do this. Its an antiquated idea and office and needs to be modernized. Create a smaller, more efficient, effective government that works and isn't	County Assessors

There are more deer that die from blue tongue than CWD. it will never be totally gone., just like COVID. Conservation department is spending, millions of dollars on corn and paying hunters to process their deer. They are destroying a food source when there are other options. Studies have shown in other states that there are other ways to control CWD. Please take a look at this and feel free to call me and other hunters to get our thoughts on this extermination program that will not eliminate CWD. its only destroying a food source and it will also hurt small businesses. They are destroying our deer herd in the name of CWD because they get federal funding for it. It's absurd! It needs to be investigated. Stop MDC from doing targeted removals and stop giving federal funding for CWD to MDC!	CWD

2/6/2025	mgarland011@gmail.com	City of St. Louis Earnings Tax	St. Louis City residents and employees have to pay a 1% earnings tax to the City of St. Louis every year. Somehow, someday, there still isn't money to plow the streets when it snows or to fix the thousands of pothole damaging residents vehicles everyday. Each year, this city loses more residents and everyone looks around and wonders why. We cannot even get basic services, there is exactly 0% ROI on our tax dollars. Crime is rampant, water infrastructure is crumbling, temporary vehicle tags by the thousands with no car insurance, zero enforcement of traffic laws, unsafe pedestrian walkways, businesses closing downtown left and right, the list truly goes on and on. Political corruption and blatant incompetence runs deep in this city, and it starts with the Mayor. How much of taxpayer dollars has she wasted traveling everywhere in the world? And for what? Is she aware she is the "leader" of St. Louis City? We have problems coming from every corner of this City. The Board of Alderman cannot even figure out how to appropriate hundreds of millions of dollars from the Rams Settlement without acting like elementary school children. There is absolutely no reason or justification for paying an extra 1% on earnings to live in a city that cannot provide basic governance or services.	I would like an audit of City tax dollars and then to abolish the City Earning Tax altogether. I'd like to find one person who can justify paying an extra 1% on earnings to live in a City that is spiraling out of control and cannot meet the bare minimum for basic services for its residents. I'd like to know exactly who is running the organizations that receive taxpayer dollars, how much they are receiving, and justification or reasoning for why they need that amount. When the inevitable corruption and waste of taxpayer dollars is uncovered, I then want the people who allowed this to happen prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law. We are 50 years or more past due on holding people accountable and its time to show the residents of this City and State that someone cares about them.	Local Gov Issue
2/6/2025	griffinjtravis78@gmail.com	General Government	Many divisions of the executive branch departments have filled positions with individuals that only have institutional knowledge and no education, particularly public administration or business administration knowledge that is generally found in a degree, particularly a master's level degree. With many of these jobs holding a salary of well-over 100K this can lead to tax dollars being wasted. Because these individuals only have one perspective, they lack the operational understanding to complete their objectives. We have seen good examples of this in divisions where the Director has only a high school education.	Because director and deputy director level positions are attached to large salaries and high authority, I suggest that we provide transparency to the public by leveraging the Missouri Accountability Portal to include any positions with a certain title and pay to include their formal, recognized degrees and certifications. When positions are filled without justification and merit and issues present themselves the capabilities of the leaders of those divisions can be the problem, especially when the present themselves repeatedly. Hiring disqualified individuals can be an abuse of tax-payer's money.	Transparency

2/6/2025	barkertrenton@icloud.com	General Government	My name is Trenton barker, I was born and raised in town called Nevada Missouri on the Kansas line. For years the employees and high ups of the city have been stealing money and using tax payers money to fund, vacation trips, gifts for employees and all kinds of other mis used places. The whole town and area is mad about it and everyone knows after a recent audit turned up millions of dollars missing. Now that there is an agency maybe we can help curb this issue and have our tax dollars actually allocated to the city and places we need it.	Do an audit and actually hold them accountable and make them release where all the missing money actually went!	Local Gov Issue

The also help MODOT on occassions. It's the worst managed department in Ozark with multiple commissioners heading the department. This crew needs to be looked into for better efficiency with their hiring, salaries and wasteful spending. One incident was at the corner of NN highway and Farmer Branch Road. There was one crew member working and the other three stood around doing nothing. My taxpayer dollars can be used more efficiently.	Less commissioners getting paid, a better streamline process and timing for hiring for the crew. They need an office assistance to handle the administrative duties.	Local Gov Issue

2/6/2025	travisheins@yahoo.com	Transportation	3 counties in Missouri have to pay for "emissions" testing for vehicles as part of vehicle registration. This program is a burden on the residents with scheduling, taking time off from work, and participating in nonsense &amp; red tape for driving a vehicle in the same air as the other 111 counties that do not. This process isn't even done by measuring air quality from vehicle exhaust as it was done in the past, now it is done by a scan on the vehicles computer - make it make sense . Business owners who provide this service charge a minimal fee , but it is wasteful to have a vehicle in a bay taking up space for customers who have real car problems and not playing into some arbitrary make- believe taxing scheme. This program is cumbersome and wasteful for the resident and the business owners.	Eliminate Emmisions testing for the remaining 3 counties in MO. (St. Louis, St. Charles, and Jefferson) . It has already passed once and was vetoed by governor Parson , that does not mean the concern just goes away for the residents and business owners. Who does the government think it's fooling by saying the 3 counties air is somehow different than the rest of the state or country ? This should be an easy one for MODOGE to correct. Stop the nonsense in Missouri. It's the same air.	Emissions Testing

The state also held virtual meetings directing Navigators &amp; FQHC employees to skirt state law and provide Presumptive Eligibility (PE) Medicaid to Illegal Immigrants, despite Missouri not allowing them to get Full Medicaid. Normal processing of an application should only take 30- 45 days, but the state is so far behind that recipients could actually remain covered under the temporary PE for more than 6 mths, even with zero chance they would qualify for full Medicaid based on state law. WASTE OF AMERICAN TAX DOLLARS. Meanwhile American families can't get an application processed in a timely manner and often times cannot seek care	Review and evaluate the state Medicaid process to include Presumptive Eligibility. Director Kim Evans is incompetent, as is the HHS Dept heads that were on those meetings, encouraging the deception so that they can continue to receive those high dollar grants	Medicaid

While this is under review the kid is dropped from our health insurance. This has happened every year. Other states allow the kids to stay covered while the review is happening. Mo needs to do this too. During these months our kid was dropped, we have paid hundreds of dollars for dr. visits and meds . I learned recently from the appeals center that once Mo dss had reviewed our financials and showed our kid did not qualify for medicaid the insurance should have been reinstated to the date we enrolled as a family, the first of the year.	Allow our kids to stay on our marketplace insurance while Mo dss reviews our financials so our kids can be covered by insurance 12 months of the year. Now our youngest is 18 and has applied for medicaid. It takes months for approval, during this time he is uninsured. My son is 100% permanently disabled and I have for three full months now dealt with nothing but nightmares and oversights from Division of Family Services.	There needs to be a general restructuring of how disabled (permanent) people are granted food stamps and medicaid. This should correlate with Social Security Division which acknowledges when someone is permanently and totally disabled. The mydss portal doesn't show your status or what documents have been received . The call center is understaffed. The waiting time for phone calls is often 6 hours, and if you miss the prompt to stay on the line you have to start over. It's impossible to get a hold of a human. You can go to the office in person, but they don't handle cases there because they have outsourced everything to call centers. You have to stay at the office for an hour or more and wait for a phone call. Then we have to file an appeal, it's the only recourse. This takes up more time for the personnel who now have to handle more paperwork. If they had more staff to open the submitted forms in time it would save everyone more time and he would not have lost his SNAP food money. This person has a serious mood disorder. I must express my deep concerns over the mismanagement of funding by the Department of Mental Health, particularly regarding the lack of financial resources allocated to rural communities for mental health and wellness services for first responders. Despite the evident need, our organization has yet to see any funding from the Department that is specifically earmarked for these critical services. It is disheartening to see that significant amounts of funding continue to flow predominantly to larger entities such as Compass Health and Burrell, while smaller, community-focused organizations that cater specifically to the unique challenges faced by our first responders are overlooked. This approach not only marginalizes those in rural areas who are often most in need of support but also represents a severe misallocation of resources that could otherwise make a substantial impact on the mental wellbeing of individuals who serve our communities under incredibly stressful conditions. It is crucial that funding strategies be reassessed to ensure an	1. Restructuring the Funding Allocation Process: The Department of Mental Health should adopt a more transparent and equitable funding model that prioritizes the needs of all communities, especially underserved rural areas. This can be achieved by: Establishing a dedicated fund specifically for mental health and wellness programs targeting first responders in rural communities. This fund should be accessible to smaller, community-focused organizations like Code 1 Wellness, which directly serve these populations. Implementing a tiered funding system that considers the unique challenges and resource scarcities in rural areas. This system would allocate funds based on community needs assessments, ensuring that resources are directed where they are most needed rather than disproportionately favoring larger institutions. Second I would like to talk about child support enforcement. I was forced to go to court October 31st 2024 so that they	Human Services Resource Centers workers need to go back into those centers and we need to start having individual case managers again. Lastly I would like to see these devices out of these kids' hands and books back into the classrooms. 			The judicial service has been used to separate families across this nation. The problem is the parents are never criminally charged they are cohered by Social services on child neglect or abuse unsubstantiated just allegations. Then division of social services stalls cases through the courts depriving other citizens of due process. If parents aren't criminally charged why should children be removed from parents custody. Other situations are the state obtains federal funds for every child in the states custody, some of those children receive Social security benefits, benefits that providers use for the child while obtaining a monthly stipend funds. With that implied comes more waste of federal and state funds. Funds never reported or taxed paid on. Providers known as placement providers for the children in state custody receive daily stipend for said children but don't report it as their income even though it is paid to them for raising the child. For children on disability their funds are intercepted by the placement provider or the state. The state receives federal funds for those children.	Overhaul division of children services program. Make rules that the agency must abide and meet before they can obtain federal funds for their program. Do annually audits in select programs to make sure no double dipping of funds. If child is drawing disability then the state must adhere to different rules to obtain federal funds for said child since child is already obtaining funds. If parents aren't criminally charged then termination of parental rights is not an option. Stop rewarding state agency for separation of families. The courts are paid by the state agency, the attorneys both repetitive of the state and public defender are paid by those state agencies, it is Racitering it the fullest form.

The GALs have conduct policies in place and a duty to not act as an attorney to any party. However, GALs in Cristian and Greene Ciunty are taking state money and not meeting with families at all. Then they arrive at court giving inaccurate information. This causes the cases to not resolve and have continued court hearings for years. Some juvenile parents use state paid attorneys to fight on their behalf because of this. If GALs accept payment, they should attend all family support meetings and meet with families to help resolve the problem. In our instance mandated counseling for our child could have helped get our child of states custody faster and helped her aggression. Because the state appointed GAL did not do her job, our child never got treatment and has been utilizing state funds for care for several years, which is highly costly. She also has to use Medicaid to be in their care. Furthermore, when we question the GAL practices they retaliate. The courts trust them so the kids with behavior issues or disabilities like mine, get stuck in the system.	I believe there needs to be an audit of how many missed FST's occur by GAL's in Greene and Christian County. I also think there needs to be an audit on if they are acting as policy states as a GAL or just acting as an attorney for the child. If acting as an attorney and not doing what's best for the child, this will destroy the chances of getting the child help and getting the children out of states custody. The Christian County courts take direction from the GAL and advise against therapeutic help in order to release the children. This is a waste of tax payer money when resources could have been utilized but denied. I believe therapy should be mandated in these situations in order to get these children out of care.

When we get the letter confirming he doesn't qualify for medicaid (due to our income) the marketplace is supposed to tell our insurance company to backdate his insurance to Jan 1. That has never happened. I only found out this year that they are supposed to reinstate his insurance to Jan 1...nothing in the paperwork that tells us this can happen. Even our independent insurance agent didn't know this. One year we paid for short term medical insurance just for him, but they don't cover preexisting conditions. My son is autistic and needs his therapy. One year we stopped therapies in January, Feb and March...until he got insurance. We have all these medical and therapy bills and I now have to file an appeal to the marketplace so they backdate his insurance to January so the claims can be reprocessed, a process that takes months. This doesn't have to happen. I wonder how this affects kids with serious ongoing health conditions.	Other states allow the child to stay on their parents ACA marketplace insurance while the medicaid eligibility is being processed. Missouri needs to do this too. You need to hire more people at Dss to process the medicaid eligibility information so it goes faster. We are paying for the premiums for the whole family... why not let our kid be covered? The system in Mo forces children to be uninsured...for months!!	Health Insurance

2/11/2025	iamgoldstein@gmail.com	Transportation	Is there anything more wasteful and unnecessary and more costly to taxpayers in Missouri that requiring vehicles to have an emissions test every other year? I understand that a safety inspection could have it's plusses, but the emission testing is a plain old fashioned money grab against Missourians. While not even statewide... as vehicle emissions testing is mandated only in the St. Louis metropolitan area, encompassing St. Louis City, St. Louis County, St. Charles County, and Jefferson County... multiplying the number of vehicles tested annually (500,000) by the cost per test ($24) yields an estimated annual expenditure of $12 million by vehicle owners in the St. Louis area. Therefore, if Missouri (St. Louis area residents) were to discontinue vehicle emissions testing, residents in the St. Louis metropolitan area could collectively save approximately $12 million per year, not to mention the time and energy savings it would save to reduce the travel, taking time off work and just overall nuisance of such a test. There are no studies that have ever concluded that the emissions program reduces emissions and healthcare related issues in the state.	Stop requiring emissions testing.	Vehicle Emissions Testing

2/11/2025	adamdfreeman@yahoo.com	Natural Resources	Good Morning, In the quiet hills of Ozark County, a surprising event shook the peaceful life of residents. The recent aerial hunt for feral hogs by the USDA has raised serious concerns about safety and effectiveness. The actions of this agency must be examined closely, as they not only affect the land but also the people living nearby. A call for better management and safer practices is essential to protect both communities and wildlife. The first issue at hand is safety. The aerial hunt took place very close to family homes, creating an environment of fear and uncertainty. Witnesses, including those with military backgrounds, reported hearing high-powered rifle shots, which contradicts the USDA's claim of only using shotguns. This raises questions about the methods used and the training of those involved. When the safety of families and their properties is at stake, it is crucial to ensure that hunting practices are both responsible and transparent. The confusion about the type of weapon used highlights the need for clearer communication from agencies involved in wildlife management. Another important concern is the effectiveness of the hunt. After the aerial shooting, damage from feral hogs was still evident in local pastures. This suggests that the hunt did not achieve its goal	The actions need to be applied locally and with local input. I purpose a three pronged effort, air, ground trapping and active hunting using local hunters that understand the interaction with the hogs. Disregarding all of local input and hunting efforts is making the problem worse. They scatter the hogs with the aircraft as they did on my place. So they can't use the excuse that hunters scatter home also. They also are not letting us hunt them in our local areas. This is a huge waste of tax payer money! Hunters don't cost MDC anything to allow into the MDC controlled areas. We use local guides and local populations to do counter terrorism operations overseas and it works! Higher education institutions already submit a list of graduates, there is no need for taxpayer funded staff who don't know the classes or the programs to be checking anything other than that a degree is posted.	The state board presentations repeatedly demonstrate that 10% of first year teachers show no certificate. The certification office has no accountability and little supervision. Executive Summary Regulatory Similarity and Industry Support: SB 54 and HB 593 both regulate intoxicating cannabinoids. The marijuana industry is well-established in Missouri with revenue mechanisms (e.g., excise and sales taxes) that fund agencies like the Department of Health and Senior Services (DHSS) and the Department of Cannabis Regulations (DCR). Disproportionate Fiscal Projections in HB 696: In contrast, HB 696 presents significantly different fiscal projections despite being regulated by the same agencies (DHSS, DCR, and DPS/ATC). 2/14/2025	hswymeler@accessii.org	Human Services	Centers for Independent Living (CILs) in Missouri receive minimal funding to provide services that help people with disabilities remain independent in their homes and communities. Due to this limited funding, we must seek additional revenue streams to meet both state and federal requirements for what a Center for Independent Living must provide. One of these requirements is to support transitions, including assisting youth in moving from high school to trade schools, colleges (when appropriate), or employment. Another key aspect is helping individuals transition out of nursing homes—where costs are significantly higher—back into the community. Missouri also operates a Money Follows the Person (MFP) program, which involves numerous state employees in an inefficient transition process. However, this program is not integrated with Vocational Rehabilitation (VR), the agency that oversees Centers for Independent Living. As a result, two fully staffed state departments are performing duplicative work.	Since VR already oversees CILs, and CILs are federally mandated to provide five core services—one of which is transition assistance—it is unnecessary to have two separate state agencies managing this program. Instead, additional funding should be allocated to CILs, enabling them to more effectively fulfill their mission of enhancing quality of life for people with disabilities while also reducing unnecessary institutionalization and saving taxpayer dollars. Commissary is not properly restocked and therefore, loses potential money that could have been made. Repairs such as plumbing issues are left unresolved, even after multiple inmates have reported the issue and cause biohazards and preventable infections that the jail then has to waste money to treat.	Start treating it like a well-run business. Get control of the commissary and kitchen help and if they don't start performing better, replace them. If there is a dedicated maintenance person, use them. If there isn't, have filters so when a repair request is made, it goes into a specific category (i.e. plumbing), have a dedicated person check these requests at least daily and contact a repairman to come fix the same types of issues throughout the building. 2/14/2025	bkaraianis@gmail.com	Attorney General	I am writing to express my concerns regarding the ongoing lawsuits filed by Missouri Attorney General Andrew Bailey. As a concerned taxpayer, I believe many of these legal actions are unnecessary, wasteful, and primarily serve political or ideological goals rather than the well-being of Missouri residents. A prime example of this is Attorney General Bailey's recent lawsuit against Starbucks, which challenges the company's diversity, equity, and inclusion (DEI) initiatives. While businesses have the right to operate according to their values, the state of Missouri should not be expending taxpayer money to interfere with private businesses' internal policies, especially when the focus should be on more pressing state matters like education, healthcare, and infrastructure. The resources spent on this lawsuit could be far better utilized in programs that directly benefit Missourians, such as public health initiatives, job creation, or addressing the state's ongoing infrastructure needs. Lawsuits like these divert critical state resources away from tackling the real issues facing our communities. In light of this, I urge a review of the financial implications of such lawsuits. Taxpayer dollars should be spent responsibly, prioritizing the needs of Missouri's citizens, rather than pursuing litigation that seems disconnected	Establishing a legislative oversight committee specifically tasked with reviewing the impact of lawsuits filed by the Attorney General would provide another layer of accountability. This committee could periodically review the state's litigation strategies and outcomes, ensuring that the Attorney General's office is prioritizing cases that have a direct, beneficial impact on the state's residents.	Lawsuit Complaint

2/14/2025	leahddixon@gmail.com	Attorney General	Dear Senator Luetkemeyer, I am writing as a concerned Missouri resident and a parent of two school-aged children regarding the recent lawsuit that includes Missouri and other states seeking to challenge Section 504 of the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA). I strongly urge you to advocate for Missouri's removal from this lawsuit and to protect the vital accommodations that Section 504 provides for students with disabilities. Section 504 ensures that children with disabilities who do not qualify for an IEP still receive necessary accommodations to succeed in school. This support is essential for many students, including those I see in my neighborhood, who faces challenges due to an unseen disability. Without these accommodations, Missouri schools could see increased behavioral issues, learning loss, and absenteeism, which would ultimately strain educators and impact student outcomes. I believe this lawsuit is an unnecessary use of taxpayer money and does not reflect the best interests of Missouri's students or schools. I respectfully ask that you are reminded of the critical role Section 504 plays in ensuring that all students, regardless of disability, have access to a fair and supportive education. Thank you for your time and for your continued support of public education. I appreciate your leadership and	Urge to remove Missouri from this lawsuit.	Lawsuit Complaint

He has a 504 plan, he is a H.S. student. Without the 504 plan accommodations would fail his classes. He will need these 504 accommodations in college and at work. When he goes to the doctor they provide accommodations so he understands his medical decisions. He experienced bullying related to his disability at his previous school and section 504 meant the school was required to protect him. Sec. 504 protections mean Missourians with disabilities have the right to be protected and have accommodations. Without Sec.504 our folks will drop out of school and be fired from jobs. This not just protects people who have disabilities from birth, but also folks who have an accident and become disabled or people who become disabled as they age due to conditions. When necessary, Sec. 504 is there to protect you and your family members. Without 504 our folks will lose jobs. There will be a larger burden on the state for public services, our service agencies are already overwhelmed. Andrew Bailey has joined the lawsuit Texas vs. Becerra that has a goal of ending section 504. "Why is Section 504 important? Section 504 covers all parts of society that get money from the United States	Mo needs to stop being part of this Texas vs. Becerra lawsuit. Trying to turn back abortion rights after we voted in favor of them is also a RIDICULOUS waste of money. Joining a lawsuit claiming that section 504 is unconstitutional is yet another waste of our time and resources. 2/14/2025	vjhemo@gmail.com	Attorney General	Missouri's AG office has long been wasting money for Missourians. Suing China for "causing" Covid? Suing public schools? And right now there is a huge, frivolous, wasteful lawsuit against Starbucks because the AG is accusing the company of hiring "unqualified" people rather than white men. This will cost us millions of dollars and for what? I suspect it is because the AG wants to curry favor with our MAGA president. I seriously doubt it is because there is a large group of white men clamoring to work for Starbucks.	Drop this wasteful, performative lawsuit. Instead, the AG's office should (as stated in its mission) protect consumers and the environment since those federal programs are being gutted as we speak. Missouri is a beautiful state with many natural resources. Let's protect our water and air from harmful toxins so that our children and grandchildren can thrive. I want them to be able to safely swim in our lakes and creeks and eat the fish that they catch, just as I was able to do when I was a kid. I want them to hear the summer song of the whippoorwill. When I was a child, their song was my nighttime lullaby, but I literally haven't heard a whippoorwill in years. Researchers attribute its disappearance at least partly to pesticides that are killing the insects they normally eat. So, in other words, whippoorwills are being killed by humans. What else are we killing through our actions? And how long will it take before we start to realize that environmentally destructive	Lawsuit Complaint

			Subject: Urgent Concern Regarding Proposed Changes to 504 Plans Dear Attorney General, I am writing as a deeply concerned parent regarding the proposed changes to 504 plans, which are essential to my children's education. Both of my children have dyslexia and dysgraphia, and their 504 plans provide the accommodations necessary for them to succeed in a traditional school setting. Removing or altering these protections would have significant negative consequences, not only for my children but for countless other students who rely on them. As a parent, I already invest heavily in additional tutoring and educational support to bridge the gaps that the school system cannot fully address. However, without the accommodations provided by their 504 plans—such as extended test time, assistive technology, and structured learning supports—my children's ability to demonstrate their true academic potential would be severely compromised. This would directly impact their test scores, overall academic progress, and future opportunities. I understand that the motivation for these changes is tied to a specific clause that does not even impact the vast majority of students benefiting from 504 plans. It is deeply frustrating that a provision designed to protect students with disabilities

Secondly, I have learned that the government wants to sue another country for the start of a pandemic (China due to COVID). This seems wasteful and counter productive to me. Are other countries going to sue us if there is an outbreak of Polio or Birdflu. What about suing our country over TB epidemics after USAID had to stop treatments part way through due to suddenly being hindered by the federal government. Suddenly stopping course allows for drug resistant TB strains to become more prevalent. This feels very hypocritical and wasteful. First, sales taxes and licensing fees are lost and second, the probability that the owner lacks liability insurance. Since the State controls our police force it seems that they could have some impact on enforcing these laws. The State continues to require us to pay greater and greater sums to the KCPD yet exerts very little oversight to their activities.	I believe a serious effort at enforcing these vehicle licensing laws would result in more revenue to the State and protect citizens's property. If everyone realized that ignoring these laws has a cost, they would probably be more likely to conform . I recently moved within KCMO and my vehicle renewal notices didn't make it to my new address. 2/17/2025	eric@frigainc.com	General Government	I have worked with various agencies with the State of Missouri for years. Over the years I noticed a fairly radical transformation in early 2000's on streamlining State personnel and efficiency. Right now, I believe the State of Missouri is run fairly efficiently. Unlike the Federal government, that has never been streamlined. However, I do believe there are areas of possible improvement for the State. One main thing from a contractor's perspective or as a state vendor. Is that there are multiple bidding locations to solicit bids to. There is Missouri Buys or My Movers, Office of Administration, then some agencies like the Department of Conservation use a private plan room. As I am sure there are other multiple plan rooms certain agencies use. To me as a Vendor there is an expense when I have to pay to use a private plan room. Plus, I may end up not bidding on projects I could have bid. Just because they are in multiple areas I may not know of. I think streamlining the State's bid opportunities to Vendors could provide efficiency to the State.	I would recommend the state utilizing as few vendor bidding portals or planrooms as possible. Possibly have up to three vendor bid submission platforms. One like My Movers, the Office of Administration, and possibly one for high security or specially approved vendors bid site. The department of revenue already knows what vehicles I owned because I have already registered them when I got license plates. I shouldn't have to go look up the VIN on a car I bought 2 years ago so I can fill out a government form for a department that already has a record of my owning that vehicle. If I was pulled over in that vehicle, the police could look up my name and address just from the license plate because there is already a record that I own the vehicle. Any self-declaration of personal property is wasteful because when you purchase that property (generally) it is recorded. The fact that a vehicle I had registered over a year ago when I bought it was not listed as an item of personal property on the self-declaration is problematic. If it was a car I bought in cash and never took to the DMV, I'd understand the request. However, this is a car I bought through a dealer and took to get a new license plate and register with the State.	Vehicles registered with the State as part of the initial purchase and transference of ownership should be included already in the self-declaration. This is an easy data problem to solve. I buy a vehicle in April of 2023, register it with the State within a few months, it should be listed as a vehicle I owned on January 1, 2024. I'm not convinced we need any self-declaration at all, but that would require a change in law, whereas better communication between departments and organization of data within existing systems is something that can be done without any legislation.	DOR

2/26/2025	bartontarah@gmail.com	Education	Concerns with MAP Testing: Based on insights from multiple teachers and firsthand experiences, several significant issues with the MAP test have emerged: 1. Loss of Valuable Instructional Time: MAP assessments are typically administered in April, leading to months of test preparation starting as early as late March. During this time, regular learning is disrupted as instructional focus shifts to test readiness. Non-tested subjects, such as Science and Social Studies, are often affected if not sidelined entirely. 2. Post-Test Engagement Decline: After the tests are completed, students often mentally "check out," perceiving that the academic year is effectively over. Despite teachers' best efforts to maintain engagement, behavioral issues tend to increase during this time. 3. Instructional Time Loss Over Time: The cumulative loss of two months of instruction per year amounts to an entire school year of lost learning by the time students finish the 7th grade. 4. Over-Assessment: In some cases, students are subjected to up to 10 assessments within a five-week period—excluding regular classroom tests and quizzes—leading to assessment fatigue and diminished learning outcomes.	To address these issues, a shift from state-controlled assessments to district-managed systems is recommended: 1. Leverage Existing District Assessment Programs: Many districts already utilize comprehensive assessment systems such as STAR and Aimswebplus, which track multiple data points throughout the school year. These systems provide a more accurate and holistic picture of student performance. 2. Integration for State Reporting: A technology-based solution should be developed to allow districts to upload their end-of-year assessment data directly to the state for school and state report cards. 3. Cost Savings and Efficiency: Hiring a small team of tech specialists (e.g., five experts paid $100,000 each for three months of work) to create and maintain the data integration system would cost significantly less ($500,000 annually) than the current $21 million expenditure on MAP testing as reported in the	MAP Testing

2/27/2025	KrantzofJC@gmail.com	General Government	A major inefficiency across Missouri state government is the lack of data sharing between departments. Many state departments- including the Department of Corrections, Department of Social Services, Department of Mental Health, and Department of Higher Education &amp; Workforce Development- collect and maintain valuable data, yet these datasets often remain siloed within individual agencies. The absence of a centralized or standardized data-sharing system leads to: - Redundant data entry and administrative burdens - Delays in service coordination for individuals receiving support from multiple agencies - Missed opportunities to leverage data for informed decision-making, policy development, and efficiency improvements For example, a person transitioning from incarceration may require services from multiple departments, including employment assistance, medical care, and social services. However, because agencies do not seamlessly share information, individuals must repeatedly provide the same data, and agencies must manually verify eligibility rather than accessing a unified system.	I believe Missouri should explore the implementation of a stateside data-sharing agreement and infrastructure that allows authorized agencies to access relevant information in real time. Potential steps include: - Developing a secure, role-based data-sharing platform that enables agencies to access necessary data while protecting sensitive information -Establishing standardized data entry and reporting protocols across departments to ensure consistency and accuracy - Creating interagency agreements that define when and how data can be shared while complying with privacy laws By improving interdepartmental data sharing, Missouri can enhance service efficiency, reduce administrative duplication, and make better use of taxpayer dollars while improving outcomes for residents who interact with multiple state agencies. Despite residents having Medicaid/Medicare Advantage dental benefits, many are still enrolled in private AME/IME dental plans. We essentially have one per county. Compared to our neighboring state KS who has one per 3 or 4 counties and a total number of officers less than 100. I would think the officer pool should be resized to goals of MDC. At one time I'm sure we needed that many to accomplish goals of getting wildlife to a certain level. Now you have to agree some of the laws and limits outdated when MDC after deer season each year slaughters hundreds of additional deer, with thermals, over corn piles. What's the point of having so many people to enforce limits and methods when post season MDC will break the laws they enforce. Its just silly.	Cut the enforcement pool in half and have them focus their enforcement on systematic offenders. In 2022, the Staff of the Public Service Commission filed a complaint against me for charging my mobile home tenants for water/sewer separately instead of including such charges in the pad “rent.” The way I had structured my business incentivized individuals to conserve water while ensuring no individual was subsidizing any other individual – allowing individuals the freedom to keep their housing costs low. For a patient that has no income (ie a homeless person), this makes sense. But for many people, if they make over a certain dollar amount, they will no longer be able to be on Medicaid, but instead go to the marketplace with a high deductible plan. The jump is big enough that I know a lot of people that will only work part time and limit their income in order to stay on medicaid to pay for their medications and health related bills.	Medicaid could be split into a few different tiers based on income. Tier 1 may be for no income and very little assets. Tier 2 would be low income and few assets. Tier 3 would be for low income and moderate assets. With each tier, the amount of a co-pay for a doctors visit and medications gradually increases. Also with adding increasing co-payments, you could make visits to an office costs less than an urgent care which costs less than the ER. The goal would be that people would prefer to wait the extra 2 hours to see their doctor for a sore throat in the afternoon instead of going to the ER that morning for a non-emergent issue. It may also incentivize people to go ahead and work more hours because the benefit is gradually moving them towards what is present on the marketplace. I would hope that this would not only save the government money in waste (Going to the ER instead of the office - ie a $2000 bill instead of $50) and also that it would encourage people that are able to work to get off of government assistance and increase overall tax revenue. Ultimately, the goal would be to instead of making a blanket one-size-fits-all Medicaid program, to make a multi-tiered program based on the actual needs and abilities of the	Medicaid
