FISCAL ANALYSIS

ASSUMPTION

Officials of the Department of Revenue stated that the proposal would not affect their agency, administratively. They did note that if the Northern Cherokee Indian People of Missouri were to be recognized as a distinct tribe by the State of Missouri and by the United States, the Northern Cherokee Indian People of Missouri would be eligible for certain income tax, sales tax, motor fuel tax and cigarette tax benefits as well as certain special considerations concerning gaming enterprises.

Oversight notes that the Northern Cherokee Indian People of Missouri are not on the federal Department of Interior - Bureau of Indian Affairs list of "Indian Entities Recognized and Eligible to Receive Services from the United States Bureau of Indian Affairs".
