FISCAL ANALYSIS

ASSUMPTION

Officials from the Department of Social Services - Division of Youth Services indicate this proposed legislation would have no fiscal impact on their agency.

Officials from the Department of Elementary and Secondary Education (DESE) assume the proposal would result in no fiscal impact to DESE. DESE officials assume the proposal would allow school districts to establish youth at risk committees at the discretion of the of the district. Resources existing within the district would be used to support the committee; therefore, the fiscal impact would be insignificant at the local level.

FISCAL IMPACT - Small Business

Small businesses that might choose to support the after-school and summer programs could expect some fiscal impact as a result of this proposal.

DESCRIPTION

The proposal would allow any school district to create a committee to work with teachers and parental groups to provide youth-at-risk after school and summer programs to minors ages five through fourteen years old. Curriculum may be developed by accredited teachers, parental groups and the committee. The committee could accept funds from any source for the programs.

This legislation is not federally mandated, would not duplicate any other program and would not require additional capital improvements or rental space.
